

Help us do more than scratch the surface in hand eczema research

Do you have severe hand eczema that just won't go away?

This clinical research opportunity may be of interest.

The DELTA FORCE Study is looking at whether an investigational cream may be helpful for people with severe hand eczema.

We are looking for people:

- Aged 18 years or over.
- With 'chronic' severe hand eczema (it has lasted continuously for more than 3 months or returned at least twice in the last 12 months).
- For whom steroid creams/ointments are not a suitable treatment option (either your doctor cannot prescribe these for you or you have not had a good enough response to them in the past).

There are other criteria to meet in order to join the study, which the study team will discuss with you.

To find out more about the DELTA FORCE Study, please contact:
